RE: PHYSICAL ABUSE / ASSAULT

Greetings Nora,

This report you have shared with us is riddled with errors.

- (1) There was a woman locked in the bathroom and she is not from this facility.
- (2) The man who assaulted me, of who you are protecting, was one of the people trying to get her out of the bathroom.
- (3) Knowing that she was there in violation, another male guests reluctantly asked for help in hopes of it not being reported.
- (4) I was asked to help unlock the bathroom but not told that a woman, not from the center, was trapped and scared.
- (5) I stated that I will only help if I get to know what's happening and in fear of me knowing the truth, the man (Samuel) grabbed my arm in an effort to grab the tool to be used to open the door, and he clearly stated that he did not care about me reporting him to the Security -we now know why.
- (6) Security guard came and opened the door. Upon seeing that the woman was distraught, without shoes and a jacket, he asked where were her things
- (7) she stated that she was in a room with another male guest from the camp.
- (8) Security allowed her to gather her items before exiting the grounds.
- (9) I reported the assailant's actions the same night with the guard and via email messages to several people because i sensed that this would not be handled properly.
- (10) The response you have shared is inaccurate and my assailant walks around smiling because he got away with what he did to me (11) and is now being protected by another loophole in your system.
- (12) Thank you for sharing the plethora of inaccuracies you have on file.
- (13) This will be added to what is to come.

Kind Regards,
